Hi

I'm Angela and I'm 12 years old and I go first class of high school of Ambelokipous. I have a normal family, consisting of my sister and my parents. My sister is less than me and she goes second class of primary school.

My day begins somewhat follows: I get up around half past seven, I wash my face, I comb my hair, I take my bag and I go to the place, where me and my friends meeting for the school. After the school I have English lessons three times to week, so sometimes I can't finish my homework quickly and I read at the night. In my free time I like reading books, but I prefer chatting with my friends on the computer or several times with my mobile phone. I love dancing, so I go dance school five years. Until today I have learned many moves for hip-hop. My team consists of nine girls and I love all of them. My group offers to me fun because we got first place in the contest and we spent a lot of time together. The class is at the end of my school and it's small but it has best classmates, ~~friends~~.

- I only wish the world has love, happiness, peace and health.
